Ken Gronbach - Demographer, Futurist,
Author, & Marketing Expert

Ken Gronbach is a gifted keynote speaker and nationally recognized author. He makes the science of shifting demography come alive with real life examples which make it relevant to today's culture, business climate, and economy.

With nearly three decades' experience in retail advertising and marketing, Ken saw the direct results of shifting demographics in his clients' profits. Eventually, his passion for the subject changed the direction of his career, to the benefit of readers of his books and attendees of his keynotes and other presentations.

He engages his audiences with clear, irrefutable demographic facts to forecast how shifting demography will shape cultures, governments, markets, and workforces. Companies call on Ken before undergoing major changes. He takes them into the future using demographics and predicts with amazing accuracy what will happen. Bring your whole staff as a team building experience!

His audience members often rate him as the "best speaker" they've ever heard:

"Gronbach caught almost everyone off guard with a wildly funny and fascinating presentation. From start to finish, he had the audience in the palm of his hand."

-Bryan Dahl, MCUL Information Services

 October was Breast Cancer Awareness month and Good Samaritan Medical Center embraced the campaign throughout their staff and various locations with several displays of pink to show their support. Efforts included providing staff with pink gloves from Medline Industries who donate a portion of their proceeds to the National Breast Cancer Foundation to help fund free mammograms and sponsor prevention and awareness. The hospital also distributed 800 pink flamingos to staff and volunteers with an invitation for them to decorate the birds in honor or memory of someone they know who has been affected by breast cancer. Posted photographs can be seen on the Good Samaritan Medical Center Facebook page. In addition to the gloves and flamingos, the hospital street signs located on Oak Street and North Pearl Street have been lit with pink lights in another show of solidarity and support. # Help us Reach our Goal! Chamber Centennial Innovation Campaign

Each year, thousands of people pass through the Metro South Chamber of Commerce building, including workshop attendees and counseling clients, Business Assistance Center visitors, and individuals meeting with one of the many business resource partners. New residents and visitors also frequent the building, requesting maps and information on cultural attractions within the region.

The Chamber has a responsibility to represent Brockton and the Metro South region as the premier, modern hub of business and development, to serve as a model of innovation and progress, and to demonstrate the support and strength of the business community. The building in its current state, however, is unable to sufficiently do this.

Last year, the Metro South Chamber of Commerce kicked off the Metro South Centennial Innovation Campaign to raise $350,000 to renovate the Chamber’s historic headquarters (built by Thomas Edison as a power plant), to provide structural, aesthetic and technological improvements. We have raised nearly $300,000, and renovations are underway, including a new roof and skylights. We are still $50,000 short of our target, however.

Please help us reach our goal, and show your support of the Chamber, by sponsoring a space within the building. Your contribution will also allow us to continue to provide the quality programming, services and advocacy that have become our trademark for over a century. The final tally of the Campaign will be announced at the 101st Annual Meeting on November 19th, 2014, during which time we would like to announce that we have reached our goal.

For more information on the Centennial Innovation Campaign, or to donate to the Fund, visit metrosouthchamber.com/programs/innovation-campaign.

We are available at your earliest convenience to meet and discuss sponsorship opportunities, and provide a tour of the building. For more information, please contact Christopher Cooney, Chamber President & CEO, 508-586-0500 x 223, chris@metrosouthchamber.com.

Save With Solar Energy

Did you know that going solar can drastically reduce or even eliminate your electric bill completely? With Massachusetts’ electric rates soaring this fall and winter, you may want to look into solar panel systems with EnergySage!

Regardless of whether you are a homeowner or a business, electric costs can make up a large portion of your overall budget. An average monthly electric bill of $100 becomes $1200 for the year and $24,000 in 20 years, so it adds up to significant amounts of money pretty quickly. And those numbers don’t factor in increases in electric rates which have grown between 2.5% and 7% per year over the past two decades. Steadily increasing, electric rates also can be volatile and unpredictable, especially if production of electricity in your area is tied to gas prices.

Installing a solar panel system at your home or business takes you out of this cycle. It either eliminates your electric bill completely or reduces it so dramatically that electricity costs are no longer a significant factor in your budget. How much you will save is a function of many factors—things like how much energy your system produces or how much you consume. The biggest determinate of savings, though, are the rates you would have paid if your electricity came from your utility. Your savings are equal to the costs you avoid by going solar, so if rates are high in your area, you’ll be saving more. And, since electricity prices are guaranteed to continue rising every year, your savings will continue to grow every year over the 25 – 30 year lifespan of your solar panel system.

For more information on going solar with EnergySage, visit www.energysage.com, where you can get an instant estimate of your solar savings, compare quotes, and more!
